Programme overview

The MFA Creative Practice offers a flexible and bespoke mode of study, enabling you to develop a distinctive and original range of creative and trans-disciplinary practices in (or related to) music. The programme comprises an inclusive, forward-thinking 'making'/composition/creative practice degree that is open to broad conceptions of composition, performance, and multi-disciplinary and collaborative approaches to creative practice. It offers a student-centered approach to exploring and developing creative and research skills—these may be interdisciplinary—and may introduce you to London's world-leading music collections and institutions.

The programme is designed to attract creative practitioners and music artists who are seeking to deepen, challenge and uniquely blend practices in contemporary composition, songwriting and song-based music, sound art and electronic musics, music production, performance, ethnographic film and multi-media or audiovisual work. Practitioners will most likely already be engaged in making work that has relevance to real music and art scenes, from the experimental to the commercial.

This MFA programme is offered full time (2 years) or part-time (4 years), or in combination (3 years). The taught content comprises: 4 x 30-credit modules over year 1 FT or years 1 & 2 PT, followed by a major creative project of 180 credits as a practical thesis, delivered in year 2 FT or years 3 & 4 part-time.

Uniquely, the programme is offered standalone or as an 'upgrade' option from the Department's MA/MMus pathways, after completion of 120 credits of taught modules and successful Creative Project proposal application. Students transferring into the MFA Creative Practice from external institutions should evidence PGDip (120 taught credits) or a relevant MA/MMus degree (180 credits) in addition to a successful Creative Project proposal application.

On the programme, you will be able to devise a coherent, yet bespoke programme of study from an extensive list of taught module options, and propose a significant creative body of work for your 180-credit practical 'thesis' project, which can also be proposed collaboratively. The outcomes of this work have the possibility of being professionally released by the Department's record label, NX Records.

Programme entry requirements

Undergraduate Degree (2:1 equivalent), or equivalent professional experience, ideally in a music/arts-based discipline; selection dependent on application/portfolio.

Applicants whose first language is not English must have received a score of 6.5 or more in the IELTS (or equivalent) with a 6.5 or more in written English and no element lower than 6.0.

Grading Criteria

GENERAL
Mark	Descriptor	Marking Criteria
80-100%	Distinction (Outstanding/ Exceptional)	Represents the overall achievement of the appropriate learning outcomes to an exceptionally accomplished level. The work demonstrates the conceptualisation, coherency, contextual appropriateness, theoretical sophistication, critical evaluation, accuracy and, above all, originality necessary for it to be publishable as submitted. Any omissions that occur arise as a result of a deliberate, justified focus, rather than through any lack of awareness or incompetence.
70-79%	Distinction (excellent)	Represents the overall achievement of the appropriate learning outcomes to an excellent level. The work shows evidence of rigorous analytical research in its conceptualisation of the project, and an excellent level of response to the set tasks. The conceptual coherency of the work/project is strong, and ideas are deployed within a clearly defined contextual framework.

60-69%	Merit	Represents the overall achievement of the appropriate learning outcomes to a good level. There is overall evidence of good analytical research in the conceptualisation of the project, and a very good level of response to the set tasks. The conceptual coherency of the work/project is good, and ideas are deployed within a defined contextual framework.
50-59%	Pass	Represents the overall achievement of the appropriate learning outcomes to a threshold level. The response to the set task and conceptual coherency of the work/project are mainly adequate.
10-49%	Fail	Represents an overall failure to achieve the appropriate learning outcomes at Master's standard.
1-9%	Non-valid attempt	A submission that does not even attempt to address the specified learning outcomes. Module must be retaken.
0%	Non-submission or plagiarised	A categorical mark representing either the failure to submit or attend an assessment or a mark assigned for a plagiarised assessment.

WRITTEN WORK

Mark	Descriptor	Specific Marking Criteria
80-100%	Distinction (Outstanding/ Exceptional)	Research shows independent thinking and methodological awareness to an exceptionally high standard; the range of sources employed is comprehensive and directed towards further development of the research question; issues are discussed within appropriate theoretical frameworks which, in turn, are subjected to critical inquiry. Text-based assessment: the text is structured with exceptional clarity and cogency, the argument is compelling, and the presentation and scholarly procedures employed are flawless.
70-79%	Distinction (excellent)	The relevant research issues are convincingly identified and addressed; there is ample evidence of sustained academic inquiry; the research draws on a wide range of sources which are all critically evaluated; issues are readily identified and contextualised using appropriate theoretical frameworks.

		Text-based assessment: the text is extremely well structured, and ideas are developed, articulated and synthesised to a high standard through cogent argument throughout. Correct scholarly procedures and theoretical frameworks are consistently employed with care, accuracy and an understanding of their purpose.
60-69%	Merit	The relevant issues are clearly identified; the range of sources is well developed and shows both sustained academic inquiry and some critical evaluation of the sources; issues are identified and contextualised using appropriate theoretical frameworks. Text-based assessment: the text is well organised, and the main argument is clearly focused and constructed. Correct scholarly procedures are employed throughout with accuracy.
50-59%	Pass	Research shows evidence of the identification of relevant issues; the range of sources is limited but shows some initiative beyond the module bibliography; there is evidence of some analytic or contextual skill, but these are mainly derivative. Text-based assessment: the text is structured around an argument, though not consistently focussed; scholarly procedures are employed throughout and are largely correct though routinely applied.
10-49%	Fail	30-49%: Research shows little evidence of the identification of relevant issues. The range of sources is inadequate, with little interpretation or analysis and there is no independent attempt to find relevant sources and resources. Awareness of methodological problems or contextual framework is not sufficiently demonstrated. Text-based assessment: The text lacks structure and/or sound argument; the focus is not clear; there are major inconsistencies and mistakes in the usage of scholarly procedures and their presentation. 10-29%:

		Research shows hardly any evidence of the identification of relevant issues and is very incompetent and incomplete. The range of sources and resources consulted is very limited and inadequate, with little interpretation or analysis. No awareness of methodological problems or contextual framework is demonstrated. Text-based assessment: the organisational structure is weak and unfocused, lacking argument, understanding or relevant examples. Scholarly procedures are misunderstood or employed incorrectly.
1-9%	Non-valid attempt	A submission that does not even attempt to address the specified learning outcomes. Module must be retaken.
0%	Non-submission or plagiarised	A categorical mark representing either the failure to submit an assessment or a mark assigned for a plagiarised assessment.

PERFORMANCE
Mark	Descriptor	Specific Marking Criteria
80-100%	Distinction (Outstanding/ Exceptional)	An exceptional, professional standard of music performance. Communication with the audience and verbal content and expression in the performance are exemplary. The performance shows a sophisticated and original interpretative understanding. Programme notes (where required) are excellent. Supplementary material demonstrates a thorough and comprehensive understanding of how performance illuminates research, and demonstrates evidence of original ideas and independent thought.
70-79%	Distinction (excellent)	A high standard of music performance with fluent playing. Any minor errors do not detract significantly from the overall performance. The programme is very well planned and executed. Communication with the audience and verbal content and expression in the performance is excellent. The performance shows an excellent interpretative understanding of the pieces performed. Programme notes (where required) are very informative and well presented. Supplementary material demonstrates a thorough understanding of how performance illuminates research.

60-69%	Merit	Fluent performance with only minor errors. The programme is well planned and executed. Communication with the audience and verbal content and expression in the performance is good. The performance shows a good interpretative understanding of the pieces performed. The programme notes (where required) are informative and well presented. Supplementary material demonstrates an understanding of how performance illuminates research.
50-59%	Pass	Generally fluent performance, though less polished and with some noticeable errors. The programme shows evidence of planning, but is limited in scope. Communication during the performance is adequate, although verbal content and expression in the performance are limited and hesitant at times. The performance indicates only a basic interpretative understanding of the pieces performed. The programme notes (where required) are brief and communicate little. Supplementary material demonstrates limited understanding of how performance illuminates research.
10-49%	Fail	30-49%: A weak performance with a basic level of organisation and some significant errors. The programme is poorly planned. Communication during the performance is poor, and verbal content and expression in the performance are expressed in very basic terms. There is an inadequate interpretative understanding of the pieces performed. Programme notes (where required) are minimal. Supplementary material demonstrates little understanding of how performance illuminates research. 10-29%: Very poor performance revealing many obvious errors. There is little sense of programme planning, very poor communication during the performance, and virtually no interpretative understanding of the pieces performed. Programme notes (where required) are missing or minimal.

Academic support

Support for learning and wellbeing is provided in a number of ways by departments and College support services who work collaboratively to ensure students get the right help to reach their best potential both academically and personally.

All students are allocated a Personal Tutor (one in each department for joint programmes) who has overall responsibility for their individual progress and welfare. Personal Tutors meet with their student at least three a year either face-to-face, as part of a group and/or electronically. The first meeting normally takes place within the first few weeks of the autumn term. Personal Tutors are also available to students throughout the year of study. These meetings aim to discuss progress on modules, discussion of the academic discipline and reports from previous years if available (for continuing students). This provides an opportunity for progress, attendance and assessment marks to be reviewed and an informed discussion to take place about how to strengthen individual learning and success. All students are also allocated a Senior Tutor to enable them to speak to an experienced academic member of staff about any issues which are negatively impacting their academic study and which are beyond the normal scope of issues handled by Programme Convenors and Personal Tutors.

Students are provided with information about learning resources, the Library and information available on Learn.gold (VLE) so that they have access to department/programme handbooks, programme information and support related information and guidance.

Taught sessions and lectures provide overviews of themes, which students are encouraged to complement with intensive reading for presentation and discussion with peers at seminars. Assessments build on lectures and seminars so students are expected to attend all taught sessions to build knowledge and their own understanding of their chosen discipline.

All assessed work is accompanied by some form of feedback to ensure that students' work is on the right track. It may come in a variety of forms ranging from written comments on a marked essay to oral and written feedback on developing projects and practice as they attend workshops.

Students may be referred to specialist student services by department staff or they may access support services independently. Information about support services is provided on the Goldsmiths website and for new students through new starter information and induction/Welcome Week. Any support recommendations that are made are agreed with the student and communicated to the department so that adjustments to learning and teaching are able to be implemented at a department level and students can be reassured that arrangements are in place. Opportunities are provided for students to review their support arrangements should their circumstances change. The Disability and Wellbeing Services maintain caseloads of students and provide on-going support.

The Careers Service provides central support for skills enhancement, running The Gold Award scheme and other co-curricular activities that are accredited via the Higher Education Achievement Report (HEAR).

The Centre for Academic Language and Literacies works with academic departments offering bespoke academic literacy sessions. It also provides a programme of academic skills workshops and one-to-one provision for students throughout the year.

Employability and potential career opportunities

The outcomes in terms of employment and further study collected both by GOS and the College's Graduate Coach indicate the breadth of outcomes made possible by the programmes in the music department.

These include:

- music-focused careers, including: instrumental tutor, composer, singer, music producer, music teacher

- music- and arts-related careers such as: royalties assistant, co-editor, learning support assistant, SEN teacher, digital marketing creative, learning designer

- careers involving transferable skills, including: project co-ordinator, administrator, private secretary to a secretary of state, business development, mentor

Students also reported undertaking further study at Goldsmiths and elsewhere. While most students on the MFA would be already undertaking such further study, some may also decide to progress their research via a PhD application.

The department aims to support this breadth of destinations through our module offer and the careers events and advice we present to students, that are underpinned by the understanding that there is no one 'music industry' and no one model of success for Music students and musicians, but rather many pathways available on graduation.
